"Additional Information": {
  "TRAINING:": "We've worked a lot on reaction time, brain training, standup, and my personal favorite wrestling.",
  "When and why did you start training for fighting?": "I started training because I saw a former teammate/colleague - Jon Jones - training, and I also saw a few TUF shows. I asked him for an opportunity to train with him, I was invited and I haven't looked back since. I thought it was tailor-made for me because I love one-on-one competition. It's your skill set against my skill set. Nothing is more rewarding than knowing you earned your right to win!", "What ranks and titles have you held?": "I'm a brown belt in BJJ, and a 2x All-American for SUNY Cortland at 133 and 141 lbs. I've held a belt at 135 and 145 lbs as an amateur. And I've held the Ring of Combat belt at 135 lbs, before vacating it to fight at CFFC and become their first 135 lbs champ.",
  "Do you have any heroes?": "No heroes growing up. But I do look up to Al Iaquinta and Chris Weidman as role models now. I always try to match their work ethic and push myself past my limits.",
  "What does it mean for you to fight in the UFC?": "Fighting the UFC means a lot to me. I finally feel like all the hard work and dedication I put into making this a career hasn't been for nothing. All the hours my trainers and I put in will not go unnoticed. I'm an animal just trying to do savage-like things out there! When I dream, I work. REALITY! That's what I live by. And I'm gonna go get it!", "Did you go to college and if so what degree did you earn?": "I went to SUNY Morrisville, studying accounting, before transferring to SUNY Cortland and getting my B.A. in Physical Education.",
  "What was your job before you started fighting?": "I was working as a shoe salesman at Saks Fifth, before being fired because I needed to get last minute things for school and called out of work. Then I just cut hair in school to help get by.",
  "Specific accomplishments in amateur competition?": "Placed 4th & 6th at 133 lbs and 141 lbs as a JR & SR, respectively.",
  "Ranks in any martial arts styles:": "I'm a brown belt under Matt The Great Serra, black belt in wrestling, a third degree black-belt in Funk-Jitsu, and I just got a stripe for having wicked muscles",
  "Favorite grappling technique:": "Rear naked choke all day!!",
  "Favorite Striking technique:": "Leg kicks, to chop down the tree!"

 "When and why did you start training for fighting?": "I started training at the end of my sophomore year in high school in 2007. I started training because one of my best friends that I met in that grade - Josh Keanu - told me I should train with him. I slept over his house one night and his trainer was there too. The trainer watched me hitting the speed bag and said I should come to training. So I did and the rest is history.",
 "What ranks and titles have you held?": "UFC featherweight champion, I held the 155 title for X-1 world events, its the biggest show on the island.",

"Do you have any heroes": "? Jesus Christ for leading the way for me, and my grandma Cynthia Kapoi. She was always there for me and my brothers and just gave us a lot of love.",

"What does it mean for you to fight in the UFC": "? It means a lot because I come from a little town on Oahu that is basically looked down upon. We are seen as the punks and troublemakers of the island. It just feels so good to make it when people are looking at you thinking there is no way I can. This also was a dream since I first started fighting. Im living my dream doing what I love to do. Its just hard to explain how I feel because I cant put it in words.",

"Did you go to college and if so what degree did you earn": "? No. Right after high school I knew I wanted to fight. People would ask me are you going to college and I would say no, Im gonna pursue my dream and fight. Most of them would give me a youre crazy face. But it just made me want it more.",

"What was your job before you started fighting?": "I worked with a man named Dorsey Roberts. He owns his own handyman business and thats what I was, a handyman.",

My best friend Johnny Perez and his wife Felicitas have been extremely impactful in my life. Their friendship, selflessness, mentorship and unconditional support have allowed me to pursue this dream. They are married and have a newborn child, and they both work full-time. With that being said, they have opened their home, along with their hearts, to me and my wife Vanessa, allowing me to pursue this dream. I cannot express how thankful I am to them both for what they have done for me and my wife. My in-laws Vickie and Paul Strother have had a really big impact on my life. They have opened their home and hearts for me and they have supported me in so many ways. My biggest hero is my wife Vanessa. She has supported me through thick and thin. Fighting on the regional circuit isn't a great way to support a family, and the lifestyle isn't conducive to a glamorous lifestyle. We survive on love, and if it wasn't for her, I wouldn't be here."

    "When and why did you start training for fighting?": "I started training boxing at 10 years old and have had over 300 boxing matches. The rise of Conor McGregor in Ireland drew my attention to MMA and the idea of practicing multiple disciplines inspired me to add Judo to my game. I became a black belt at Judo by 18 and it was very obvious I was a natural born fighter. I wanted to follow in Conors footsteps. Despite my familys protests, I dropped out of college to pursue a career in MMA and started MMA training at the age of 18. I had my first amateur MMA fight the day after my 19th birthday and turned pro at 21. In under five years I have become a UFC fighter and am debuting at MSG at 23! Told you I was fast.", held a couple state kickboxing titles. He was undefeated also. I put a beating on him that totally baffled people, as it was my first fight. My dad threw me in DEEP. He wanted to see if this was what I REALLY wanted to do. After the fight the guy I beat was totally demoralized that he got essentially spanked by a 15-year-old in his first fight and made the comment I wonder why I got in the ring with that boy. So the commentator heard this and called me Wonderboy. Also when I was a younger kid I'd sing and dance and my sisters then boyfriend would call me Stevie Wonder so somehow all this turned into Wonderboy.

Yeah, kinda crazy."

"Additional Information": {

"Training:": "A typical day of training usually begins at about 9am for me. I'm working with Leister Bowling to improve my wrestling and I'm also with Christian Allen to learn how to use my reach effectively.",

"When and why did you start training for fighting?": "I started training for MMA when I was 17 years old. I walked into Miguel Torres's gym and saw those guys training and I knew that it was what I wanted to do. I started off by taking a couple of BJJ classes and then I eventually started taking kickboxing classes also. While I was deployed overseas I met some guys who trained kickboxing, BJJ and MMA. We would meet up after duty and train with each other every day.",

"What ranks and titles have you held?": "I'm a brown belt in BJJ under Miguel Torres and Andre Leite. I was All Army Combatives Champion and the All Guard Combatives Champion.",

"Do you have any heroes?": "Outside of MMA my heroes are my grandmother and mother. These women taught the values of hard work and sacrifice. In MMA, my heroes are Nate Marquardt, Matt Hughes and Miguel Torres.",

"What does it mean for you to fight in the UFC?": "For me, fighting in the UFC is a dream come true.

I trained for over seven years and dreamed of this moment for as long as I can remember.",

"Did you go to college and if so what degree did you earn?": "Yes. I went to Southern Illinois University Edwardsville and got a BA in Criminal Justice.",

"What was your job before you started fighting?": "I spent seven years in the Army and was a student when I began fighting.",

  "Nickname is translated to piledriver in English",
  "Origin of nickname: I got the nickname after I did a piledriver in a BJJ competition when I first started. The maneuver is illegal in jiu-jitsu so I got disqualified for it. It was my first tournament and I got caught in a bad spot and, not knowing what to do, my instant reaction was to pick the girl up and throw her on the ground... but that is an illegal move and got me removed from the competition. Of course, all my teammates and friends thought that was amusing that I did that and got myself DQed so everybody started calling me Piledriver. And you know how it is...if you dont like being called something, that is what is going to stick.",

Gloves were my pillows and my kimono, my blanket. I liked other sports too, but fighting has always been in my heart. I started training Jiu Jitsu with my dad, then I stopped due to the training sessions intensifying greatly and people at my school started saying that my body was looking ugly and that it looked like a muscular man's body. Then I also started dancing, I did presentations and everything. I started to notice that all of my friends were competing and I was only dancing, it was then that, with my parents persuasion, I started Judo to better my Jiu-Jitsu. I stood out with Judo, and moved to the capital of my state to train at a highly regarded Judo club at 14 years of age. I won some Brazilian championships, participated in Seletivas Olimpicas and Circuito Europeu but I injured myself a lot and decided to go back home and study. "When and why did you start training for fighting?": "I started training Taekwondo when I was five years old because its a family tradition. My mother is the sportswoman of the family - she is a 3rd dan black belt in taekwondo. I have been training multiple disciplines since the early beginnings of my journey as a martial artist. My coach Pavel Fedotov has taught all his students mixed martial arts (what he called Universal Martial Arts) long before they were popular like today. Every time we trained, we practiced sambo, judo, wrestling, boxing, and taekwondo. Every week we competed in different styles and sometimes at two different events with different styles on the same day. I have been training mixed martial arts (MMA) since the beginning, and I started competing in MMA professionally in 2003.",

 "When and why did you start training for fighting?": "Everyone from the team I come from in South Jersey trains all year, regardless of fights. I dont really believe in the term fight camp. I am a martial artist that is always training to get better. This fight was two weeks notice for the both of us but I was planning on fighting a five-round fight in the beginning of August anyway, so I am confident in my preparation. Overall, I started karate when I was four years old. I began fighting as an amateur in MMA in 2012 and turned pro in 2014.",
